Now Comes Bootleg Money. An Inter-Language Wanted. Vane's Better Chance. Dementia Americana.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.]

WE have with us now "bootleg money," worrying the financiers that nest in Wall Street. Bootleg money comes from the west to share the plunder when "call money" is jacked up to 7 or 8 per cent, as at present.

FINANCIAL bootleggers cut the price a little and take some of the cream from those milking the stock gamblers in the name of "conservative speculation." New York's Clearing House association held a special meeting Thursday to combat the evil.

AT least a billion dollars have been sent to Wall Street from outside. You can't imagine how that hurts inside gamblers that want the profits on usury for themselves.

DELEGATIONS of college men from different parts of the United States will record their voices on talking machines that scientists may study "American dialects." The main thing is that all of them are understood from New York to San Francisco.

In Europe, traveling 3,000 miles from Oslo to the southeast, you would hear Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, German, Czechoslovakian, Hungarian, Rumanian, Bulgarian, Turkish, Greek, and, in Egypt, Arabic, twelve different languages in a 3,000-mile trip and not hear one-half the languages that Europe speaks.

EUROPE feels the need of an "inter-language." The sensible thing would be to make that language English, that all waiters and clerks need, and nearly all educated Europeans know.

National pride prevents that. So why not use Latin, once the universal learned language, making it possible for Erasmus to speak to Henry the Eighth; for all learned men in Europe to be able to reach other through their books? Nothing could be more hideous than a made-to-order language.

SENATOR VARE, most powerful politician in Pennsylvania, elected to the senate, but not seated, is felled by a stroke of paralysis.

If he recovers, as doubtless he will, the senate in all probability will give him his seat. Such is human nature. Even Jim Reed, of Missouri, relentless fighter, would find it hard to reject a man with one-half of his body paralyzed.

That shows how far we have progressed beyond the wolves. With them a wounded comrade is immediately eaten.

DELPHIN DELMAS, Thaw's lawyer in the big murder trial is dead. He will be remembered for his invention of the expression, "dementia Americana," to describe Thaw's state of mind.

Delmas, who lived and died in California, was the greatest criminal lawyer since the days of John M. Sweeney and the Star Route trials.

A PARIS editor informs his readers that Governor Smith speaks four languages. Many here did not know that.

But Republican members of New York's legislature know that Gov. Smith can speak at least one language plainly. The four languages that Governor Smith is supposed by the French editor to speak are Irish, German, Yiddish and English.

He knew a few words of the first three, and all of the fourth.

REOPEN PENN AVENUE TODAY

City Repairs 250-foot Stretch of Hill Road.

Pennsylvania avenue, which has been closed for nearly two weeks because of repairs, will be reopened late this afternoon, Mayor Benetum announced today.

The thoroughfare has been placed in first class condition. One stretch of 250 feet is new construction. Several thousand bricks were also used in leveling the highway between the top of the hill and the Garfield school. About 125 tons of amosite was used in the work.

The cable fence along the hillside has been completed.

The improvements were made by the city street force under the direction of Street Commissioner Clyde Goodbal.

While the street was closed traffic between East End and downtown district detoured over the River road.

Ohio Valley: Thunder showers at the beginning of the week, followed by mostly fair weather except for a period of showers about Thursday. Moderately warm most of the week.

Water Consumption Heavy.
The thermometer on the St. Clair avenue side of the Central fire station registered 92 at 12 o'clock today, two degrees higher than the reading at the same hour yesterday. Firemen said that the 95-degree reading at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon was the highest recorded this summer.

While demands for ice are unusually heavy there is no danger of an ice shortage, dealers said. Two ice plants are operating about 75 per cent of capacity.

JAMES T. BEGG URGES SLASH OF INDUSTRIAL TAXES IN OHIO

Oppressive Rates Are Driving Out Business He Says.

VOTERS AT RALLY Gubernatorial Candidate at New Philadelphia Today.

More than 100,000,000 in new industries, located in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana and other neighboring states in recent years, which would have been invested in Ohio were it not for "the state's oppressive industrial tax rate," Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, told more than 100 men and women voters at the Carnegie library last night.

The East Liverpool rally was the climax of a tour of Columbiana county by the Sandusky congressman, who made stops in 10 other cities and villages. Begg also addressed a meeting in the American Legion hall, East Palestine yesterday afternoon, and spoke briefly at a rally of the Afro-American Voters' league in the municipal court room here, following the meeting in the library.

The gubernatorial candidate was met at Minerva by a party of Columbiana county political friends yesterday morning. Traveling with him was Mrs. Begg, his son, James, Jr., driver of his automobile, and K. E. Walker, Delaware newspaper man. Stops were made at East Rochester, Kensington, Summitville, Salineville and Wellsboro, a stop being made for lunch in the latter city. From Wellsboro he was taken to Salem where he held a conference. During the afternoon he also called in Columbiana, Leontonia and Lisbon. He arrived here at 6:30 o'clock last night, taking dinner at the Travelers' hotel.

Begg and his party left for Canton at 10 o'clock last night. He is scheduled for an address at New Philadelphia this afternoon, after which he will probably return to his headquarters in Buffalo, N. Y.

Local Republican Organizations Ask to Pay Bill to Connect Smaller Stations on Aug. 11.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON. STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 4.—A new form of campaign contribution will be brought to light through the use of the radio to broadcast the speech of Herbert Hoover accepting the Republican presidential nomination, it was learned today.

Local Republican organizations in various sections of the country will be asked by national leaders to pay the cost of hooking up their local radio stations to the National Broadcasting system, employed to broadcast Hoover's speech across the country on August 11. A tremendous hook-up of stations, probably the greatest in history, will send the speech out into the ether, but hundreds of smaller stations will be left out of the chain unless local organizations foot the bills.

This form of contribution will be similar to the action of political clubs in paying the cost of newspaper space to advertise their favorite candidates. The adoption of this practice, however, will put something new into American politics.

Hoover will deliver his acceptance speech in Stanford University stadium, a huge stucco bowl, built some years ago to accommodate the tremendous crowds attending the university's football games. The stadium will seat 50,000 persons, but there will be standing room for 20,000 more. A monster crowd has been anticipated because the stadium is available to motors from all over California and has facilities to park 60,000 automobiles.

The nominee will speak from a stand built across one end of the field. He will face into the bowl with only the Republican national notification committee and a number of personal friends seated behind him. (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1.)

STEAMER AZTEC SIGHTS FLIERS ON THEIR WAY TO NEW YORK

Reported Over Mid-ocean 33 Hours After Hop-off.

40-HOUR LIMIT Trans-Atlantic Aviators Due at 3:49 p. m.

Unless held up by bad weather or mechanical trouble, the Polish fliers, Major Louis Idzikowski and Major Casimir Kubala, were believed to be nearing the American coast this morning. At 9 o'clock, Eastern standard time, the men had been on their way 33 hours and had been reported over the mid-Atlantic flying strongly.

OCEAN HOPPERS LOSE BEARINGS

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Indications that the Polish trans-Atlantic fliers, Major Idzikowski and Major Casimir Kubala had lost their bearings and were sweeping in wide circles over mid-ocean in efforts to find their route, were contained in a radiogram received this afternoon from the steamship Amakura.

The Amakura reported sighting the plane at 5 o'clock this morning, G. M. T. in the position of 46.20 north and 20.40 west.

Destination Not Determined
The Norwegian steamship Argo reported at 2:40 a. m. Greenwich time, that it had sighted a white biplane in 44.22 north and 24.08 west. The plane was flying westward at high speed, but its exact destination could not be determined. It was about 250 miles north of the Azores and it could not be told whether it was headed for Bermuda, New York or the Newfoundland coast.

The plane had hopped at 14 Bourget field, near Paris, at 5:45 o'clock yesterday morning (12:49 New York daylight saving time), and had been in continuous flight up to the time it was sighted by the Aztec.

When the fliers left Le Bourget field they said they might stop at the Azores to refuel or, failing in that, they probably would land in Bermuda for the same purpose. They said they hoped, in any event, to arrive in New York in 40 hours.

The 40 hours would be up at 4:49 o'clock this afternoon, New York daylight saving time, (8:49 East Liverpool time).

The plane did not carry any wire loss.

The Poles took with them 1,200 gallons of gasoline, estimated to be enough to carry them 3,600 miles or keep them aloft about 55 hours.

Local Man Invents Non-Charge Battery

A noncharge battery was invented by W. E. Figley of East Liverpool, Ohio, May 5th, 1921. This battery is so constructed that it can be used for either house lighting or automobiles.

When used in connection with automobiles a resistance must be used in series with it to limit the current for starting and lighting purposes. This resistance is immersed in oil to prevent heating.

The general construction of the battery is fourteen copper plates with strips of lead fastened to the face and suspended from the case. Directly below these plates are three inches of coal and one inch of sawdust, saturated with a solution of seven different acids. This solution gives off energy in the form of electricity and keeps the battery fully charged at all times.

When used in connection with house lighting it will burn 25-110 volt, 60 watt lights for a period of six months. At the end of this period the voltage will fall slightly. A few drops of ammonia is added to the solution and the battery restores to its original condition.

The ammonia is added to the battery by an automatic spigot. Mr. E. R. Wright of Akron, Ohio, is handling this battery for the young local inventor.

4-YEAR NORMAL COURSE PROPOSED

A four-year college course at West Liberty Normal school will be proposed next week at the meeting of the state board of education at Charleston, according to an announcement by John H. Lazear, superintendent of the Ohio county schools.

Previous efforts to institute a college course at West Liberty have failed. Of the six state normal schools, three now grant college degrees. They are Fairmont, Marshall and Concord.

"This section needs a four-year course at West Liberty," said Lazear. "It would heighten the teaching standards and provide better equipped teachers and furnish a degree-granting college for the upper panhandle."

Transfers for Voters

East Liverpool voters, who have changed their places of residence since the presidential preference primaries in April, or the November election, in the event they failed to qualify for the subsequent balloting, must apply for transfers in order to have a voice in the selection of party nominees at the Republican and Democratic primaries on Tuesday, Aug. 14.

Ohio election officials today directed attention of voters in registration cities—and East Liverpool is the only enrollment subdivision in Columbiana county—to this requirement.

Saturday and Monday, Aug. 11 and 13, will be transfer and registration days in East Liverpool. Registrars in the city's 22 precincts will issue transfers to all applicants, as well as register new electors and voters who neglected to qualify for bygone elections.

But two days of registration have been designated by the board of deputy state supervisors of elections. Make certain that your name is on your precinct registrars' books. Otherwise, you shall disfranchise yourself.

Hawaii Honors Explorer

Honolulu is planning to outdo itself with flowers and song Aug. 15 to 19, in honor of Captain James Cook, the great circumnavigator who discovered the Hawaiian Islands a century and a half ago. During the observance of the anniversary it is anticipated many thousands will make their first visit to America's western outpost.

This celebration, however, serves to center attention on the personality of one of the most interesting of the great explorers who have pushed back the frontiers of the unknown world. Cook not only was a discoverer, he was truly an explorer in surveying and mapping what he found and observing what he saw. To that he added the distinction of finding a way to conserve the health of sailors.

With San Francisco within a comparatively few hours of East Liverpool, by air, or within instant reach by twisting the dial on the radio, it is difficult to believe that Cook was opening up the Pacific many years after the Thirteen Colonies had been settled, and that this Englishman was nosing his way along the shores of what now are Oregon and Washington and British Columbia and Alaska while the colonies were fighting their war of independence.

Captain Cook not only discovered the Hawaiian Islands, when they were peopled solely by natives, but he met his death there after he had sailed up and down the Pacific, had crossed the Arctic Circle, had touched many of the South Sea Islands and had been to Australia and back.

Hawaiians appreciate what the coming of Cook meant to the islands.

Democratic Split

Scarcely had Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, former member of the United States senate, departed from the ranks of Democracy, when Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, of North Carolina, announced his decision to resign from the Democratic national committee. The Owen and Simmons incidents demonstrate clearly what has been suspected for some time—that the Democratic house is more or less seriously divided against itself.

The Republicans may not carry North Carolina, and probably will not, but in view of Senator Simmons' action, and keeping the recent Asheville dry conference in mind, it is patent that Governor Smith can make no impressive appeal to Jeffersonian Democrats in states outside the confines of the geographical solid south.

As new accessions to the Hoover candidacy are announced almost daily it is manifest that he has struck a strong, responsive chord of great appeal to voters in all parts of the country and in all party groups—voters who are satisfied with the prosperous condition of the nation, who believe it will continue to prosper under a Republican regime, and voters who do not want to experiment with paternalism or socialistic ventures.

Medical Profession Goal

According to Dr. W. J. Mayo, the purpose of the medical profession is to eliminate the need of a physician.

Medicine is actually progressing toward the ultimate complete elimination of disease and the prolongation of life. The attainment of that goal may be centuries away, but medicine and surgery have made long strides in that direction during the last century. Diseases such as smallpox, cholera, tuberculosis, yellow fever, scarlet fever and diabetes, once frightful scourges of the race beyond the power of medical science to check, now fall back in disordered lines before the application of scientific methods.

Surgery today is safer than ever before because of improved antiseptic procedure and also because of greatly improved technique on the part of the surgeon. Millions of dollars are being spent in the conduct of extensive research work, and new and better diagnostic methods are being perfected almost every week.

The span of life is being lengthened, and will be lengthened even more as the science of medicine presses on toward its ultimate goal.

Telephone Necessity

The United States uses 60.5 per cent of the telephones of the entire world, with Germany, Great Britain, France and all other European countries using 27.5 per cent and the remaining 12 per cent being distributed through all other countries.

This serves to make one thing—that here in the United States the people are more keenly alert to modern conveniences than is the case in the so-called highly cultured countries of the old world.

People of the United States have found that the telephone, like the automobile, the vacuum sweeper, the electric toaster, the washing machine and all the other mechanical labor-savers and time-savers of the day, are not luxuries, but necessities.

It is not surprising to those of us who are Americans that we lead the entire world in the use of the telephone. The surprising thing about it is that the ratio is not greater.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—A fresh page in the history of Chinese-American affairs seems on the eve of being written. The department of state has announced that it is prepared to take up negotiations looking toward whatever revision may be needed in respect to Chinese matters, with especial reference to the tariff and extraterritoriality.

China has for so long been involved in the turmoil of internecine warfare that there is a special freshness about the idea of anything so stable as treaty negotiations but out of the welter of hostilities among the great war lords of the Chinese provinces has come a fusion under the National forces. This, Secretary of State Kellogg believes, has brought about an authority sufficiently central and stable to make treaty negotiations possible.

The United States already has accorded de facto recognition to the Nationalist government of China. It only remains for solemn assurances to be exchanged concerning the handling of tariff matters and the protection of American rights to bring about withdrawal of American troops now on Chinese territory, and then a recognition de jure; that is, a resumption of complete diplomatic relations with mutual recognition of the laws of the land.

The new treaty negotiations will look merely toward revision of what previously has been drawn. The United States refuses to adopt the idea that the old treaties have been or can be abrogated. It has been the diplomatic policy of the United States for many years to deal with China on matters affecting Chinese and Americans solely. Where general international questions are involved, other interested nations are called to the conference table. Secretary Kellogg, however, has intimated that he is willing to have other nations sit in on the adjustment of Chinese-American relations on this occasion if they so desire.

The nine-power treaty, signed at Washington, February 6, 1922, stated it to be the purpose of the instrument: "To provide the fullest and most unembarrassed opportunity to China to develop and maintain for herself an effective and stable government;

"To use their influence (the signatory powers) for the purpose of effectually establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations throughout the territory of China;

"To refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of subjects or citizens or friendly states, and from countenancing action inimical to the security of such states."

The treaty, of which the above is the preamble, was signed by the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Portugal, and China—nine great powers of the earth.

The treaty was one of those growing out of the conference on the war to which she is not a party and China agrees to enforce neutrality upon her nationals.

Doubtless what prompted Secretary Kellogg to state that, even on purely Chinese-American affairs, any treaty revision would be open to discussion among all the powers is the existence in the nine-power treaty of Article VII which provides that when any situation arises which in the opinion of any signatory requires application of the stipulations contained in the treaty, there shall be a full and frank discussion among them all.

On the same day the nine-power treaty was signed at Washington, a special treaty relating to customs also was signed by the same high contracting parties. It provides that China shall levy a customs duty of five per cent ad valorem on imports. Provision was made for a special conference looking toward the abolition of illicit and the substitution of a more scientific system of taxation.

Chinese leaders have declared that among the most fruitful causes contributing to the disorders in China have been the existence of the treaty ports, extraterritorial jurisdiction, and the competition of European powers for concessions and commercial, if not quite political, hegemony in certain sections of the old Celestial Empire. This very nine-power treaty which will form a part of the basis for the new negotiations contains the following Article IV:

"The contracting parties agree not to support any agreements by their respective nationals with each other designed to create spheres of influence or to provide for the enjoyment of mutually exclusive opportunities in designated parts of Chinese territory."

With this treaty already on the international statute books, neither China nor any outside country is in a position to come in and get the inside track in the matter of concessions and special governmental favors. The new China starts her dealings with an outside world with a clean slate.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Many readers send in questions signed only with initials, asking that the answers appear in the newspaper. The space is limited and would not accommodate a fraction of such requests. The answers published are one that may interest many readers, rather than the one who asks the question only. All questions should be accompanied with the writer's name and address and two cents in coin or stamps for reply. Send your question to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. How much fan mail is received at Hollywood? T. S. P.

A. It is estimated that 400,000 fan letters pass through the Hollywood post office monthly.

Q. Do the stars emit much light? E. N.

A. The total of starlight is a very small amount. Up to the 20th magnitude the total light emitted is equivalent to 687 1st magnitude stars, equal to about the hundredth part of full moonlight.

Q. Are there any round churches? D. E. D.

A. There are five remaining in England, the largest being the Temple Church in London.

Q. What is the origin of the term, sybarite? L. T.

A. Sybaris was an ancient Greek colony and city of Lower Italy, in Lucania. Tradition ascribes its building to a colony of Achaeans and Troezenians about 730 B. C. It rose to a high degree of prosperity, but becoming enervated by the mildness of the climate, the richness of the soil, and their great wealth, the inhabitants soon were noted for their luxury and voluptuousness. The city was destroyed by the Crotonians in 510 B. C.

The center of the string contains pearls graduated in size, while the rest of the stones are medium. NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The British notion that all trade is slightly vulgar may cling to perfidious old Albion but it does not click in New York. That is not anymore. Society is taking up trade and making it hum. And not losing social caste either.

It used to be that only when a family fortune was dissipated a member of the upper crust went despairingly to work. Then for a time work was an occasional hobby but lately it has become a serious, earnest and permanent endeavor.

For several years Mrs. Marjorie Oelrichs has conducted an exclusive specialty shop in the Fashionable East Side. Likewise Mrs. Richard R. Wilson, Elsa de Wolfe is an interior decorator with a shop on Fifth Avenue, and Elisabeth Marbury at 70 is producing plays again.

Any number of reigning debutantes fill in idle hours acting as saleswomen on commission for interior decorating and antique shops. Jewelry houses and art galleries. They have offices where they do most of the soliciting by telephone.

Mrs. Brock Pemberton is head of a theatrical costume department of a big store. Julia Hoyt, whose social position and reputed beauty have been highly exploited, left society for ultra-Bohemianism and a career on the stage. Peggy Hoyt, a society girl, is head of a fashionable dress making salon.

Two well known society girls have opened a haberdashery shop on East 48th street. Rebecca Stickney, from an aristocratic family, is a fashion writer on Harper's Bazaar. Still another famous Long Island matron has an executive position with a bank.

Basil Durant, reputed to mingle with society but best known as a professional dancer, is director of a men's apparel department in a store. Ted Trevor, similarly known, is head of the aviation department in the same place. And last but not least is cherubic and blue blooded Maurie Paul, who as Cholly Knickerbocker is society editor of a newspaper.

The drift of foreigners to certain metropolitan localities is a phase of New York's shifting panorama somewhat like sheep following the leader. A few locate in a certain neighborhood and almost overnight it becomes a Little Italy or a little something or other with all the native smells and everything. One of the newest colonies is on 116th street. It is Little Porto Rico. There are 75,000 Porto Ricans in the greater city, and 116th street, like Chinatown for Chinese, has become their stamping ground. It has its own cafes serving native dishes, its own newspaper, movie theatres and other amusement haunts, as well as its churches and community club houses.

First, the jazz dancer, was trying to light his cigar on a cabaret floor. Some one at a ringside table tossed him a patent lighter and he flipped it into a prompt light. "It works; it's broke," he exclaimed, dropping it in bewilderment.

Kale and farewell maids of Broadway are discarding the lisp and baby stare. Today those husbands misunderstood at home or having invalid wives meet the "accident girls." These gay deceivers have become French, Russian, Cuban and Spanish. One with almond eyes even went Chinese. All this gives them the appearance of being just little strangers in a strange land and knowing nothing of its deceptions and wickedness.

In a night club a frequent visitor is wheeled in in an invalid chair. It might be supposed it would be the last place he would care to go, for on leaving the place in his cups several years ago he fell down the stairs and received his permanent injury.

As one who has waited a jeremiad or so over the impertinence of the theatrical box office men, it is a pleasure to report that one this morning, following a request for two on the aisle in the first row, handed them over with a smile. All of which sent me out of the lobby in the throes of my favorite tap dance.

Other Editors Say

More Even Now.

The retirement of Gene Tunney is regarded in fight circles as a rather favorable turn of events. His easy victory over Heeney created the impression that no heavyweight now in the ring had an even chance of defeating him. And without a title at stake, a prize fight is not of wide interest.

With Tunney out there are four or five contenders of comparable ability, of whom Risko and Sharkey are, perhaps, the most promising. But in addition to them there are others who will receive consideration in the elimination tourney which Rickard has in mind.

And at the end of that elimination, it is now pretty clear, he has every hope of bringing back Jack Dempsey in a third attempt to regain his crown. Jack says he is interested in the stage, has all the money he needs and has no intention of returning to the ring. But he has retired so often and come back that one more or one less retirement will make little difference in his life.

Rickard and his associates took a licking for about $200,000 on the Tunney-Heeney match. They will hardly be content to pocket that loss, knowing as they do that Dempsey would again draw a million-dollar gate. If, however, Dempsey cannot be prevailed upon to come back the big money in prize fight promotion belongs to the past. No one else now in sight has the thing that sells the $40 tickets—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A man's thoughts leave an indelible imprint on his features.

Physical care or neglect is something anyone can read at a glance.

But the results of mental attitudes and moods are not so often considered by the men and women of the workaday world.

Sarcasm is one of your faults, perhaps, and it is found to turn the corners of the mouth down. Not a pleasing expression, is it?

Announcing the New Utility Truck

-another Sensational Chevrolet Value

4 Speeds Forward • 4 Wheel Brakes

Now Chevrolet presents the New Utility Truck—a low-priced haulage unit embodying those modern features of advanced engineering developed through years of experience in commercial car building, and proved by exhaustive testing on the General Motors proving ground!

Typical of the progressive design embodied in this sensational new truck is a four-speed transmission with an extra-low gear, providing tremendous pulling power for heavy roads, deep sand and steep hills—and reducing to the very minimum the starting strain on motor, clutch and rear axle!

Powerful, non-locking 4-wheel brakes, with a rugged emergency brake that operates entirely independent of the foot brake system, give a new measure of safety and utility of vital importance in everyday operation!

And a new ball bearing worm-and-gear steering mechanism, which even includes ball bearings at the front axle knuckles, provides an order of handling ease never before experienced in a low-priced truck!

In addition, the new Utility Truck offers all those basic features which have been so largely instrumental in Chevrolet's success as the world's largest builder of trucks—rugged rear axle with one-piece banjo-type housing... four semi-elliptic truck type springs, set parallel to the load... air cleaner, oil filter and positive action vane-type oil pump... thermostatic control of water circulation... low loading height... and generous road clearance.

No matter what your business may be—come in and get a demonstration of this remarkable new truck. You'll find that it offers every feature needed for dependable low-cost transportation—and we can provide you with a body type to meet your individual requirements.

Landmark Makes Way for Modern Needs

Built nearly a century ago, this old house at Wooster, Ohio, was the birthplace and boyhood home of C. H. Henry, father of Mrs. Herbert Hoover (right), wife of the Republican nominee for President. It was purchased by a garage man, Boyd Cornelius, who is tearing it down to put up a garage. Cornelius offered to let Mrs. Hoover choose any mementoes she wished from the house. Mrs. Hoover sent Mrs. Alice Sprague (left), of Wooster, an old friend of the family, to make her choice for her. Mrs. Sprague got there just in time to pick a few of the balusters from the old stairway, down which Mr. Henry used to slide as a boy.

Memorial Deadlock Lifted.

The deadlock in Germany as to where the "Ehrenmal" or Monument of Honor for the fallen German soldiers in the World War, shall be placed has been tentatively settled by a compromise. Three projects held the field, and none would give in. One was to build the monument near Berka, another, on the Rhine near Ehrenbreitstein, and a third favored Berlin. The Reichs Cabinet was unable to decide, and while postponing the Rhine project until there shall be no troops of occupation there, decided to build the Ehrenmal at Berka and to convert Schinkel Watch chamber in Berlin into a Hall of Honor. Leaders of the various political parties are to be consulted before the final decision.

CROMAR

MAKES A BEAUTIFUL FLOOR—
and it is so easily to keep clean

It Does Take a Hard Wood Floor to Make a Room Look "Right" Doesn't It?

Its clean lustre is almost essential to set off the furniture and the draperies.

A large sweep of hardwood floor — it's really beautiful!

And if you install CROMAR, there won't be those widening, dust collecting, deep cracks of the ordinary hardwood floor.

CROMAR is a hardwood floor completely made and finished by machines, at the factory. A special rounded groove makes the cleaning easy.

CROMAR is patented, and two carpenters will lay it right over an old floor in one day.

Why CROMAR costs less per room and why it can be laid and used the same day, you will find, among other advantages in CROMAR literature.

Phone us for it today. In the meantime get in touch with other CROMAR users for their opinion.

OPEN WILLIAMSPORT-ROGERS LINK OF YOUNGSTOWN ROAD ON AUG. 24

Lisbon-Salineville Highway Job Will be Completed on Sept. 20, County Surveyor Kirk Says.

LISBON, O., Aug. 4.—The East Liverpool-Youngstown road will be opened for traffic through Williamsport and Rogers to Middleton on Aug. 24, it was announced today by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk.

Through traffic over the new Lisbon-Salineville road will be permitted on Sept. 20, providing weather does not delay construction work.

Concrete pouring was completed yesterday afternoon on the Williamsport-Rogers road job.

The Mellert-Weidner company will move their equipment to the two and one-half mile stretch, now unimproved, between Middleton and the Cox highway. This contract is expected to be completed within six weeks.

Moultrie Job Near Completion.
The three and one-half mile mark has been passed on the Lisbon-Salineville road by Mellert Q. Weidner who expects to finish the pouring of concrete on the remaining two and one-half miles within three weeks.

This road will tap the Wellsville-Salineville highway at the south end of Tidball hollow. Wet weather during June and July delayed the project.

C. S. Biery of Alliance will finish the grading on the Moultrie-Stark county line road within the next three days. This will complete this road with the exception of a concrete bridge near the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad at Moultrie. As soon as this grading project is completed, Biery will move his equipment to the section that is to be graded on the Homeworth-North Georgetown road.

Thomas Miller has completed about 50 per cent of the grading on the Simpson Corners-Woodlawn School-East Fairfield project. This job was awarded July 16, and the contractor moved onto the job the following day.

Rogers-Negley Project.
Allison-Harris Construction company of East Liverpool has completed approximately three-fourths of the grading on the Rogers-Negley road.

All drainage structures have been completed with the exception of a bridge over Leslie's run near Negley. This bridge is now being built by H. C. Armstrong of Lisbon, former county surveyor.

In all probability the contract for the improvement of the Youngstown-Lisbon road from the end of the present concrete road out of Columbiana to the "flat iron" north of Lisbon will be awarded by the state highway department on Aug. 31. This project will be for grading and drainage structures.

Frank L. Cox of Kensington was the only bidder for the contract for widening the bridge on the Lincoln highway just west of the main intersection of roads at Kensington. Widening of the Kensington bridge will not cause traffic to detour.

FORMER PLANE MECHANIC HELD IN GIRL DEATH

Los Angeles Man Denies He Slew Barbara Morrow.

FIND NUDE BODY
Russell S. Beitzel Faces Another Examination.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 4.—Facing a charge of first degree murder, Russell S. Beitzel, former aviation mechanic, today continued to maintain his innocence of the slaying of Barbara Morrow, whose body was found in a North Hollywood ravine.

Authorities, investigating the mystery, were prepared to go into the city jail where Beitzel is being held and subject the prisoner to another severe examination.

Beitzel's account, given to police during a prolonged questioning, was the basis upon which the murder complaint was formally lodged against him.

According to the former mechanic's story, he had met the girl in Philadelphia while she was a waitress and he an employe of a department store. They decided to journey to Los Angeles together, Beitzel said, and arriving here, lived as man and wife.

In leaving Philadelphia, Beitzel is said to have informed police, he abandoned a wife and two children, whose address was given by the prisoner as 1955 North 19th street in the Philadelphia city.

The accused man, according to officials, admitted having gone to the vicinity where Miss Morrow's nude body was discovered. One day, he is said to have told questioners, he borrowed a revolver and drove to the scene where he engaged in target practice.

ALL ENGLAND SINGS PRAISES OF COURTNEY

Hail Airman's Coolness in Saving Lives of Companions.

PLANE IS FIRED

Proves Worth of All-metal Craft Britain Says.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—All England was today singing the praises of Capt. Frank T. Courtney for his coolness and daring in safely landing his blazing seaplane in mid-ocean and saving the lives of his three companions and himself.

Despite the fact that he failed in his flight, Courtney is being hailed as having advanced trans-Atlantic flying another step by proving the worth of the all-metal seaplane and wireless under the most hazardous conditions. It is pointed out that a land plane of ordinary construction would either have burned up in the air or dropped plummet-like to the bottom of the sea under conditions similar to those met by Courtney.

Courtney and his three companions, E. B. Hosmer, wealthy Canadian backer of the flight; Fred Pierce, mechanic, and E. W. Gilmour, radio operator, are now aboard the liner Minnewaska which will arrive in New York Monday morning.

COSTES PLANS ATLANTIC HOP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Lieut. Diouonne Costes, French round-the-world flier, plans shortly to hop off from France for a flight to the United States by way of the Azores. Major Georges Thenault, French air attaché, informed the war department today.

NEW CUMBERLAND STORE IS LOOTED

Burglars last night looted the general store of Michael Solomon, Chester street, New Cumberland, W. Va., obtaining merchandise valued at $200. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear door. The robbery was discovered by a clerk when he opened the place for business this morning.

Hoover on Radio

Hoover had his speech completed today and gave out copies in confidence to the newspaper men assigned to him. They were under a pledge not to reveal its contents before he begins speaking next Saturday afternoon. The prepared program fixed the time of his address at 4 o'clock. The speech will run more than 5,000 words and Hoover expects to complete it within the 50 minutes assigned to him on the radio.

The candidate spent this morning quietly at his home, free from callers and attempting to catch up on the correspondence that piled up during his fishing trip to the north woods. He was to leave his home late this afternoon for a motor ride to the Bohemian club's frolic tonight at Bohemian Grove, 75 miles north of San Francisco. He will remain at the camp over night, as he has been a member of the club for many years. The frolic, although a stag affair, is the greatest social event of the west coast. There is a limited guest list and the fortunate ones come from all over the country to attend the event, called "High Jinks." Associate Supreme Court Judge Harlan F. Stone, Secretary of War Dwight Davis and Assistant General William J. Donovan will attend along with Hoover.

records. The claim was made that issuance of the "sample" ballot was in violation of the instructions of the policy committee. Considerable dissatisfaction, also, was registered by a number of candidates who were not endorsed on the "White list" issued this week by officials of the Ohio W. C. T. U. Of the gubernatorial candidates, this list gave its o. k. to Begg, Cooper and Shanley, Republicans, and to Davey and Bloom, Democrats.

Attorney General P. H. H. H. Cincinnati, a Democratic candidate for one of the U. S. senatorial nominations, was among the candidates who declared they did not receive a copy of the W. C. T. U. questionnaire. Officials of the organization replied that copies were mailed to all candidates.

Initiative Petitions Approved. Attorney General Edward C. Turner, a candidate for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination, in a letter addressed to Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, this week, urged amendments to Ohio's corrupt practices act. One proposed amendment, suggested by Turner, was that candidates for the United States senate not be allowed to spend more than $5,000 in a campaign. This law now limits campaign expenditures of a gubernatorial candidate to $5,000, but places no limitation upon U. S. senatorial candidates, Turner said.

Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, it was announced this week, approved the form of initiative petitions, submitted by Attorney Charles H. Hubbell, Cleveland, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state auditor. These petitions, it was stated, will be circulated among Ohio voters preparatory to the proposed adoption of a state constitutional amendment and enactment of legislation repealing the Pence law, regulating public utilities, and lengthening the terms of all elected officials in the Buckeye state, from governor down to county, municipality, township and school district.

Airmen Near Coast

Amakura sighted a biplane believed to be the Polish plane on route from France to the United States at 5 o'clock this morning Greenwich time. (Midnight Eastern Standard time), according to advices received late this afternoon.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Polish trans-Atlantic fliers—Major Louis Idzikowski and Major Casimir Kubala—were still in flight toward the American coast and had completed nearly one-half the distance between Europe and the American continent, according to a wireless message received from the steamship Aztec. The Aztec wireless the Evening News that the plane had been sighted in the position of 44.22 north and 24.08 west.

The Aztec sighted the plane at 2:40 Greenwich time this morning, or 9:40 Friday, Eastern Standard time. If the airman succeed in maintaining the same rate of speed they had been making they should be sighted off the American coast some time during the morning. The Aztec reported the plane was flying high and apparently all was well.

The message from the Aztec—a Norwegian steamer—was picked up by the wireless station at Valentia, on the west coast of Ireland.

The position given by the steamship was approximately 250 miles north-west of the Azores and nearly one-half across the Atlantic, figuring in a straight line from the continent to the American coast line.

It was impossible to tell from the position of the Polish plane whether the Polish fliers were bearing for Canada or Bermuda. When they left Le Bourget field, Paris, they said they planned to fly by way of Bermuda and stop there for fuel in event it was necessary.

From the position of the biplane, as reported by the Aztec, it would appear that the fliers decided to fly north of the Azores instead of steering a course over the islands. The airman were about 1,200 miles at sea, flying south of the north Atlantic steamer lane but across the route of the steamships that ply into ports in the southern United States.

The indications were that the Polish fliers were jogging along as nonchalantly as when they hopped off, saying they did not know where they were going but that they hoped to land in New York within 40 hours. The 40 hours will not be up until tonight, giving the Poles plenty of time to make good unless they run into storms or their machine develops mechanical trouble.

Begg Hits Taxes

ters at Columbus, where he will spend Sunday.

Willis Davidson, chairman of the East Liverpool Republican central committee, introduced Begg at the rally in the library.

In urging a reduction in taxes Begg declared the "tax issue to be the most important one to before the people of the state today."

"Do you know," the congressman asked "that during the last six years the federal government has reduced taxes 60 percent and the debt 30 percent? While this has been going on Ohio's taxes have been increased 70 percent and her political debt increased by more than 500 percent. The Ohio debt today is within a few thousand dollars as was the whole debt of the United States before the war."

"Ohio has a headache so serious that industry is dizzy wrestling with problems to avoid the insolvency court. The Ohio farmer is paying from $2 to $4 per acre tax. He is entitled to four percent interest on his investment which adds another $4. Now then his upkeep on the farm is one dollar an acre. That's $9 which he has to pay without receiving a cent for wages or remuneration for himself, say there is no farm in Ohio or any other state rich enough in fertility to produce this cost and the owner stay out of bankruptcy for 10 years even if he inherited the farm."

Hite Levy on Real Property. "The last legislature, to meet the state bills, passed a six-tenths of a mill levy on real property which is nothing more than a mortgage on your home and even your life insurance policy. It's the first levy of its kind since Governor Davis had it repealed six years ago. I'm saying everywhere I go that if I am entrusted with state affairs there will never be any tax on real property excepting in case of a crisis such as fires or floods. What's more the levy on farm property for road taxes is absurd. The people who commercialize the roads and the state should bear this burden."

"What's happening to the money you people pay in taxes?" Begg asked. "Do you know that 40 cents out of every dollar you pay goes for interest and to retire bonds for money already spent? Six years ago Ohio had $26,000,000 in her treasury and today she is bankrupt."

Congressman Begg charged gross waste and extravagance in the state highway department which he said is costing in taxes every day. He declared he could save enough in that department alone to build 50 miles of improved road each year. He made a plea for a governor and legislature of the same political faith so that the people might have some one to charge the results to and eliminate a lack of cooperation in the affairs of state government which he said was costly.

Begg declared that he was not as much interested in his own success at the August primaries as he was in the success of the Republican party at the general election in November.

"I am making this campaign on my record in congress," he declared. "During my speaking campaign I have said nothing about my opponents nor will I allow my friends to say anything which would in any way injure the Republican party at the November election."

During the last 24 years the Sandusky congressman declared Ohio has had but two one-term Republican governors. During the same time he continued, the state has chosen Republican legislatures.

"If you are going to elect a Democratic governor, give him a Democratic legislature for the sake of harmony," was his suggestion. "Nominations in August and I will be elected in November," he concluded.

W. C. T. U. NOTE TO OHIO JUDGE PROMPTS DISMISSAL OF LIQUOR CASES

LEBANON, O., Aug. 4.—Cases of seven alleged bootleggers have been dismissed by Judge Charles C. White, Batavia, sitting by appointment on the Warren county common pleas bench, at the request of the prosecution because of a note received by the trial judge from W. C. T. U., informing him that "convictions are expected." It was revealed here today.

According to Prosecutor C. D. Dilatush, he requested the dismissal after he saw the note which the judge had received. The note read: "We are here and convictions are expected." The note was signed by Mrs. Hashbarger, president of the W. C. T. U. Prosecutor Dilatush said, "and the note had been handed Judge White by a court bailiff, so under the circumstances I could do nothing other than ask the dismissal."

"Judge White told him," Prosecutor Dilatush said, "that never in all my years on the bench have I ever encountered anything similar." Dilatush believes the only reason there were no contempt proceedings was because Judge White was a foreign magistrate and did not want to create a scene.

FRED STONE'S STAGE CAREER HANGS IN BALANCE AS RESULT OF CRASH

YANKEES WIN RELAY HEAT

Noted Actor's Legs Broken in Airplane Accident at Groton, Conn.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 4.—Fred Stone's stage career hangs in the balance today. Whether he will ever be in physical condition to return to his profession is something surgeons cannot determine for weeks, according to pronouncement here today.

Both legs were broken when his airplane crashed at Groton yesterday, and his left leg was broken in two places. To unite them successfully will take at least six months, surgeons believe, and there is a chance that even a longer time will be needed.

"Conditions favorable" was the laconic hospital report today.

NO ONE INJURED AS AUTOS CRASH

No one was injured in a collision between two automobiles in St. Clair avenue, north of the Park boulevard entrance about 11 o'clock last night.

The accident occurred when a coupe, owned by Miss Agnes Walsh, Sixth street, was sidetracked by a sedan driven by M. R. Hammond, Midland. The latter car plunged over an embankment and into a concrete culvert, twisting the frame and shattering the windshield. Miss Walsh's car was a damaged wreck and lost a wheel. McElvany Brothers' wrecker brought both machines to their garage.

relief was promised in the form of thundershower today.

The four victims were: Gordon F. Winter, 60; George Merkle, 45; and Miss Lillie Carr, 25, and Robert M. McGhee, 45, stricken by the heat.

Mrs. Morganstern, 51, of New Philadelphia, died in Union hospital, Dover, late yesterday afternoon from the heat. She was recovering from an operation, but lapsed into unconsciousness and died when the heat wave struck that section.

TODAY

One man died from the heat at Toledo and three persons were overcome yesterday afternoon. The temperature at Toledo was officially recorded at 93° late in the afternoon.

William G. Skelly, 60, for many years foreman of the Toledo Blade mailing room, was stricken while sitting on his front porch.

Edward Corbett, 65, and Henry Johnson, 51 collapsed while at work near Toledo, and were taken to a hospital.

William Barnum, farm hand, was overcome while working in a field near Carlton, O. He is expected to recover.

A new high mark for the summer was recorded in Cleveland yesterday when the temperature reached 91. Reports from Sandusky were that the mercury at one time went to 97, while at Youngstown a high mark of 92 was reported.

Six Dead in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Blistering heat took a toll of six lives in the last 24 hours and no hope of immediate relief is seen in the weather bureau's official forecast for today which foresees continued warm this afternoon and tonight. It adds there is a possibility of showers tomorrow.

The hottest Aug. 4 in 46 years was recorded here with a temperature maximum of 90 degrees. Showers which had been forecast for two days previously, failed to materialize and in addition to the deaths recorded there were ten heat prostrations in New York.

Scores Prostrated

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—New England's toll in the hot wave today stood at five dead and scores prostrated.

A series of violent thunderstorms brought the mercury down from the 95 mark, but the accompanying lightning did much damage in the Greater Boston area, bolts striking several buildings. Several persons had narrow escapes from death.

Three children trying to escape from the heat were drowned in New England waters.

GOV. AL SMITH BEGINS WORK ON HIS SPEECH

Democratic Nominee Returns to Albany Tomorrow.

SEEKS FARM VOTE

Plans Conferences at Executive Mansion With Agrarians.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Satisfied that he is making rapid strides in his drive to capture the farm vote of the middle west, Governor A. Smith will return to Albany tomorrow to begin work on the final draft of his acceptance speech. He expects to complete the address he will deliver on August 22, in formally accepting the presidential nomination, in about ten days and then he may take a brief vacation in the Adirondacks.

Juliant because George N. Peek of Moline, Ill., who claims to be the spokesman for a million farmers in the corn belt, has announced he will support his candidacy, Governor Smith is quietly laying plans to win the support of other farm leaders.

Within the next two days the Governor expects to have several conferences at the executive mansion at Albany with farm leaders.

These meetings are to be arranged by Peek who has signified his intention of taking an active part in Smith's campaign. Leading members of the committee of twenty-two of the North Central states' Agricultural conference, of which Peek is chairman, are to be invited to discuss farm relief with the governor at Albany.

The governor will wait until after he has conferred with the farm leaders before drafting that part of his acceptance speech in which he will deal exclusively with the agricultural problem. He has repudiated the equalization fee as contained in the McNary-Haugen bill but has declared in favor of the principle of controlling the sale of farm surplus and assessing the cost on the group benefited. He will make his stand on the equalization fee plan in his speech of acceptance and will say, according to his close friends, that he intends to have the details worked out by a committee of experts in the event of his election.

In his drive to win the farm vote, the governor is understood to have told Peek he intends to deliver a series of speeches in the middle western states during the latter part of September. After announcing he would support the Democratic ticket, one of the things Peek is said to have told the governor is that he should make a personal campaign in the farm states.

Because of his stand on farm relief, the governor and his advisers are said to feel that there is more than an even chance of winning the support of former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois. For years Peek has been a close friend of Lowden and it is understood he will use his influence with the former Illinois executive to win him to the Smith standard.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Stocks of the Chrysler-Dodge Motor combination led a brilliant forward movement in prices at the beginning of trading in the stock market today. Wall street heard that many traders and investors were switching from General Motors to Chrysler in anticipation of an enormous growth and expansion of the business of this "third largest" manufacturer of motor cars in this country, in addition to which the Chrysler leaders were confidentially adding to the stock holdings.

Speculative enthusiasm was also stimulated by the favorable surveys of domestic business conditions issued at the weekend by Dun's, Bradstreet's and a number of the prominent Wall street banks. Renewed expansion in general trade is already making itself felt, in contrast to the seasonal decline reported at this time in the last three years.

Chrysler common and Dodge preference stocks were finally brought together in the speculative markets when both stocks sold above 85 for a new 2-point gain. Nash, Studebaker, Packard and other popular motor shares forged ahead in active trading, reaching the highest price levels of the week.

Atlantic refining at its opening price of 157½ showed a loss of about 12 points from yesterday's high, the stock slumping on profit taking after the announcement of the intended four-for-one split up. But buying demand followed in at the low prices of the day and a prompt recovery was in order, Marland, Sinclair and other of the independent oils sold around the level of Friday's close. Motors, United States Steel and other speculative leaders showed the effects of profit-taking, and a number of the specialties were also similarly sold.

All markets showed down in the second hour. Trading in the commodity exchanges was in comparatively small volume, as also in the curb and bond markets and the unlisted security markets.

ROBBERY CHARGED

Arrested in Connection With Holdup of C. H. Risinger.

Sheriff George Wright and Chief of Police Hugh McDermott are enroute back to Ohio today with Carl Baker and Charles Powell, East Liverpool youths, arrested at Denison, Texas, about a week ago, charged with highway robbery and the theft of an automobile belonging to Charles H. Risinger. Risinger's sedan, which the men are alleged to have stolen, is also being returned.

Leaving East Liverpool at 5:30 o'clock last Sunday morning Wright, accompanied by McDermott and another automobile driver, arrived in Denison Wednesday night. It was planned to leave Texas with the two prisoners on Thursday.

Baker and Powell waived extradition. They are expected to arrive here Monday or Tuesday.

LIGHTNING KILLS BERRY PICKERS

LEBANON, O., Aug. 4.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Miss Ethel Moore, 27, and Robert Cole, 21, both of South Lebanon, who were killed by lightning near here late yesterday. They were picking blackberries when a heavy storm broke over their vicinity. Other berry pickers found their bodies after the rain had stopped.

WILLIAM S. VARE IS IMPROVING

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 4.—The condition of Senator-elect William S. Vare, 60, of Philadelphia, was somewhat improved today, according to his personal physician, Dr. Ellwood Kirby, of Philadelphia. Vare, stricken earlier in the week by a paralytic stroke, had suffered an alarming relapse late yesterday when he was unconscious.

A bulletin issued shortly after midnight stated that the patient was resting comfortably and felt better than at any time since he was stricken, but that he is a very sick man and by no means out of danger.

Norma Stevens Selects the Aristocrat of Motor Fuels

Profiting from the experience of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on his epochal flight blazing the path across the Atlantic ocean, I demand a gasoline produced from California crude when my life hangs in the balance in wing-walking and parachute-jumping.

When I poise on the wings of a Waco plane in the Koolmotor Flying Circus at East Liverpool's airport today and tomorrow—when maximum motor efficiency is essential to safeguard my life—I shall use Anti-Knock Super-Flash Gasoline, supplied by the Ohio Valley Oil Company. This gasoline has more than fulfilled my expectations.

East Liverpool district motorists are fortunate in having the opportunity to obtain this clean-burning, double-refined and dependable fuel.

Parachute jumping is perilous, but wing-walking is more hazardous, for without a faultless motor fuel it is impossible for my pilot to keep my plane in the position that safety demands. One interruption of the motor by reason of defective gasoline would necessarily mean the tipping of the wings of the plane, and inevitably, cost my life.

I have the utmost faith in Anti-Knock Super-Flash gasoline for airplanes, which require 100 per cent fuel efficiency. Knowing this as I do it is no surprise to me that Anti-Knock Super-Flash has become the favorite fuel of the discriminating motorists of the East Liverpool district.

HOP TO GOLDEN GATE PLANNED BY WOMAN, 101

"Grandma" Bennett Took First Flight in Portland, Me. FLYING THRILL
Gray-haired Aviatrix Serious About Long Jump.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — When "Grandma" Almatia Bennett was a little girl she rode in the first steam trains. While indignant horse owners covered the eyes of their sporting steeds and said hard things concerning the new "contraptions," the grand old lady of Chicopee was enjoying this startling new form of transportation; and the faster the train went the more she enjoyed it.

Now at the age of 101, "Grandma" points with pride to a record of four flights in the newest form of travel to develop during the century in which she has lived. Beginning in 1920, Mrs. Bennett took her first airplane flight over the city of Portland, Me. Flying proved to be such a thrill for the centenarian that since that time she has taken to the air on three other occasions and is now seriously considering a flight to California.

Will Cross Country.

Her fourth adventure in the air was made when she hopped from Agawam in a Ryan monoplane, a sister ship of Lindbergh's famous "Spirit of St. Louis," and circled over Springfield and Chicopee for over half an hour.

"Grandma's" two other air outings were made, first at Portland on her birthday, September 8, 1925, and one year later when she undertook the ambitious jaunt from the Boston airport to Old Orchard, Me.

The element of fear in these trips has been entirely missing, she claims, and she is eager for longer and more sustained hops.

"Why," she exclaimed after landing at Agawam following her most recent aerial venture, "a friend has invited me to fly with him to California, and I'm only too willing to go." She had just come to rest on the field after coming back to the narrow confines of the earth with a smooth landing. The plane was piloted by John T. Rogerson, who, together with all other pilots have carried Mrs. Bennett as a passenger, claims that she is naturally "air-minded."

Young Folks in Awe.

The younger element in Springfield which believes that it will be doing extremely well to attain "Grandma's" enviable old age while clinging close to the ample and comforting bosom of Mother Earth stand frankly in awe of this smiling old lady who thinks no more of thus hopping off for California than they do of taking a dip in the Connecticut river.

They are a nervy, audacious set, on the whole, yet no one of them can face the prospect of a long flight with the equanimity of this veteran of four long flights.

"The more I fly, the better I like it, maintains the gray-haired smiling-eyed woman whose spirit belies her age; and she is really serious about that California hop.

Co-operative agricultural organizations are being developed in Algeria, and are proving successful in bettering farming conditions there.

Sporty Golf Costume

All the injunctions of fashion are carried out in this practical golf outfit of oyster white flannel, which features a sleeveless vest and light-weight pleated skirt that will not interfere with one's swing. For a touch of color, Nancy Carroll, screen star, wears a red and white Windsor tie. A white felt hat and red and white socks add charm to the costume. (Illustration by Howard)

"LION AND MOUSE" ON CERAMIC BILL

"The Lion and the Mouse," Warner Bros.' extended run vitaphone production comes to the Ceramic theater Monday for a one-week run. The Allstar cast is headed by two of the most popular actors of the screen, May McAvoy and Lionel Barrymore. The forceful presence and manner of Barrymore makes him the most obvious of all choices to play the lion of the financial world, "Ready Money" Ryder. And May McAvoy, the piquant and petite, is in delightful contrast as the sly and wily little "mouse" who nibbles the ropes of greed which bind the rich man's better nature.

The means by which Shirley, the "mouse," accomplishes the remarking of Ryder, the rejuvenation of her father, and the capture of Ryder's happy-go-lucky son—is the substance of the enthralling story, which is a screen revival of Charles Klein's celebrated success of some years back.

The scenario was done by Robert Lord and Lloyd Bacon directed. Others in the cast are Alec Francis, William Collier, Jr., Emmett Corrigan and Jack Ackroyd. The public is proclaiming "The Lion and the Mouse" to be one of the most brilliant dramas of the year. You'll miss a lot by missing it.

JOHN GILBERT AT AMERICAN

Men who braved death on many war fronts; a troop of hard-riding Cossack soldiers who fought for the Czar and with the White army, traveled from Europe to turn screen actors, when they rode with John Gilbert in "The Cossacks," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular epic of Russia, at the American theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

These men stage the thrilling Cossack rides and sensational battles in the picture. The Cossacks, together with several hundred Russians recruited from Russian settlements in California, populated a complete Russian town built for the picture. They lived just as they did in Russia, with all their native customs, while the spectacle was being made.

thrills, such as pyramids of men on galloping horses, sensational races and battle scenes. A battle in a huge replica of a Turkish fort was one of the supreme thrills filmed.

The Cossack troop was commanded by General Theodore Lodi, former commander of the czar's bodyguard, and the settings designed by Alexander Toluboff, once head of the czar's colonization forces, and builder of towns in Turkestan and Crimea. In the making of the picture all direction was relayed to the crowds in Russian, as few besides the principals spoke English.

Among the thrills in the picture are the great torture scene in the Turkish fort, the battle of the pass, the storming of the great fort and the sensational riding in the Cossack festival or rodeo.

Wichita Boasts New Record; Census Shows Only 64 Illiterates

WICHITA, Kansas.—Wichita, a city of 102,512 population has but 64 illiterates.

Educators here are exultant over the showing of their city and claims that not another city in the world can boast of such a record—sixtenths of one per cent illiteracy.

And the number may be decreased this fall. The census taker who compiled the data for the amazing report took the names of every one who could not read or write. A special committee will call on each of the deficient persons this summer to persuade them to attain the Opportunity school where special classes will be held.

While there are two Smiths and one Jones listed, Superintendent of Schools L. W. Mayberry says more than 2 of the 64 are Mexicans. Most of these labelled illiterate are fifty years of age or over.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

From the Warner Brothers Vitaphone Picture Story by Hugh Herbert and Murray Roth...

Pictures by HANLON

SYNOPSIS: Eddie Morgan is tired of life in the little upper New York State town where his mother keeps a small hotel. Business has fallen off because of the building of a new hotel across the street. Two of the Morgan hotel guests suggest to Eddie and his friend, Gene, the barber, that they buy a barber shop in New York. The boys are excited about their chance to make big money and to see life. Eddie's girl is in New York and he wants to see her.

Courtesy of N. Y. Daily Mirror

THE two strangers from New York get together after their conversations with Eddie and Gene. They are broke. They want to go back to New York. They can make money on the sale of the barber shop of which they have told Eddie and Gene, and they can get their fares paid back to the big city. They decide to use all their persuasive powers to put over the deal.

AFTER HIS TALK with the stranger, Eddie goes to his mother and tells her of the wonderful offer the man has made. "Couldn't you let me have the money, mother?" he asks. "It's a great opportunity, and I am so anxious to get away from here." "But you do not know these men," protests Mrs. Morgan. "I'm sure they're all right," he answers. "I'll have you meet them."

MRS. MORGAN meets the two men, and likes them. They talk over with her the purchase of the barber shop, its advantageous location in New York, its possibilities for a bright, wide-awake young man. So Mrs. Morgan agrees to give Eddie the money for the purchase. Eddie is elated, and though Mrs. Morgan hates to have her son leave, she believes it is for the best.

EDDIE is leaving for New York to purchase the shop but the strangers have not told Gene of their success with Eddie. Gene accosts them as they are departing. "Hey, there!" he shouts, "I want to be in on this. I'm going with Eddie. What can he do in a barber shop without a barber?" The men take Gene's check and tell him to hurry to New York.

Howell Loses Pitching Duel To Easton At Wellsville, 2-1

Reese, Talbott Double To Score Winning Run

Southpaw Gives Katies Three Hits in Seven Frames; Howell in Form; Both Receive Faultless Support.

Two two-baggers in the sixth inning that produced one run broke up a great pitching duel between "Cracker" Howell and "Happy" Easton last night at Wellsville, the pair of two-ply blows by Talbott and Reese giving the down river aggregation a 2 to 1 victory over K. T. K.

The Wellsville southpaw was in great shape as he buried seven innings in which the visitors nipped his delivery for only three safe swats, two of which came in the opening inning.

From the first inning until the seventh only three men faced the left-hander in each inning save the sixth when Easton issued his only walk and the walkee then was the only man to reach first in that frame.

Howell was almost effective. A base on balls and a sacrifice in the first gave Wellsville a run. After that, and until the sixth, Howell permitted no more than one hit in each canto and none was damaging.

Katie's Score in First. After Bayley had popped out to Hancock at short in the opening inning, Coleman beat out an infield hit, stole second, moved up on A. O'Brosky's sacrifice and scored on Jack O'Brosky's single.

George Wagner started the drive to even the count in Wellsville's half by getting a walk out of Howell's slants, Rager laid one down in front of the plate and was safe when Kinsey over-ran the ball. C. Wagner poked one at Howell who threw to third to get G. Wagner. Talbott fanned but Edwards socked one over the right field fence for two sacks, scoring Rager with the tying margin.

Wellsville threatened the plate again in the fifth but failed to score as Howell and Jack O'Brosky pitched a double play. Easton, first up, crashed the apple to center for three bases. George Wagner fanned and Rager drew a walk. With one gone, someone got the signals mixed and Cal Wagner attempted to bunt. Instead, he fanned one directly at Howell who threw to first to double Rager who had gotten a flying start for the keystone bag.

Talbott Reese Hit Doubles. Talbott slashed out a double to start the Wellsville half of the sixth. Edwards sacrificed him although his efforts in this line were really not needed in view of Reese's two-bag away a moment later. Hancock walked and more runs were imminent, with one gone as Reese went to third and Hancock to second on a wild pitch. Lintner fanned, however, and Easton poked one out to Steve O'Brosky in right who made a sensational catch, backed against the fence.

With two gone in the first of the seventh, T. O'Brosky revived K. T. K. hopes by singling to left. He stole second and was in position to score on a single. Hall crashed a hard hit drive at Hancock and the latter brought it down to end the game.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized by the New York state boxing commission as the world's flyweight champion, carries quite a wallop for a little fellow. He knocked out Joe Cassino, alias Little Jeff, of Baltimore, in the fourth round of their scheduled fifteen round bout at Rockaway last night. A right cross was the finishing blow.

Busy Izzy, defending his title for the fourth time in a month, was unmarked at the finish. Jeff was weak on the attack and absorbed considerable punishment.

Gladman, the California mite who has all the earmarks of taking rank some day with the really great women players that the Golden State has given to lawn tennis, will be put to the acid test today when she faces the stolid and phlegmatic Helen Jacobs of Santa Barbara in the final round for the women's sea bright bowl.

One of the most salutary features of the entire lawn tennis season to date was the fine victory which John Van Ryn, this year's Princeton captain, scored over Wilmer Allison, of Texas, in the men's final of the bowl matches yesterday. Allison, completely exhausted, wilted before Van Ryn's brilliant attack and defaulted after the twentieth game of the fifth set when the score of the set was 10 ace and the match score was 6-8, 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 10-10.

Helen Jacobs To Test Skill Of Coast Star

Midge Gladman, Net Mite, Faces Tough Match.

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 4.—Midge Gladman, the California mite who has all the earmarks of taking rank some day with the really great women players that the Golden State has given to lawn tennis, will be put to the acid test today when she faces the stolid and phlegmatic Helen Jacobs of Santa Barbara in the final round for the women's sea bright bowl.

One of the most salutary features of the entire lawn tennis season to date was the fine victory which John Van Ryn, this year's Princeton captain, scored over Wilmer Allison, of Texas, in the men's final of the bowl matches yesterday. Allison, completely exhausted, wilted before Van Ryn's brilliant attack and defaulted after the twentieth game of the fifth set when the score of the set was 10 ace and the match score was 6-8, 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 10-10.

Showing of McGrawmen May Settle Flag Race

If Red Birds Can Clean up, Critics Will be Ready to Concede Them Pennant; Cubs Advance to Third Place.

By Les Conklin.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—If the St. Louis Cardinals can subdue New York in their crucial series starting here tomorrow, many experts will be ready to concede the pennant to the Red Birds, for the Giants have demonstrated quite clearly in the last two weeks that they are the best of the other contenders.

While the Cardinals were bowling over the Phillies and Braves and getting an even break in Brooklyn, they fattened their batting average to .302, only three points below Pittsburgh. The Giants, meanwhile, took three out of four from Pittsburgh, four out of six from Chicago and two straight from Cincinnati; they clinched second place and stayed within 64 games of St. Louis by noosing out the Reds yesterday, 7 to 5, while Small William Sherdel hurled the Cards to a 5 to 1 win over Boston.

Extra base hits by Lindstrom and Hogan have been featuring New York's late rallies. Each hit a homer yesterday as the McGrawmen scored six runs in the last two innings.

The Cubs advanced to third place by outslugging Brooklyn, 8 to 5. They kayced Jumbo Elliott in the third inning and scored seven runs. In the American League Philadelphia tangle game, winning streak was snapped by Cleveland and the Red Sox shattered Chicago's six-game winning spurt. The Mackmen lost a chance to gain on the Yankees, who were whitewashed, 8 to 0, by Sam Gray of the St. Louis Browns. Murderer's row hasn't denied the platter in 21 innings and the team's batting average has sunk to .303. Waite Hoyt, the league's leading pitcher, was Gray's victim.

It was the first time since 1928 that the Browns had won a series from the Yankees. Connie Mack hurled 18 players into the breach in a desperate effort to beat Cleveland, but five pinch hitters, including Grandpa Ty Cobb, Daddy Tris Speaker and Uncle Eddie Collins were set down by Hudlin and Shaute. Big Ed Morris hurled the Red Sox to a 3 to 1 triumph over Chicago. Sam Jones of Washington held Detroit to five hits, while the Nats pounded out a 9 to 3 win.

The paralyzed Phils were revived and sent on the field to be slaughtered by the Pirates again, 14 to 6. Pie Traynor got five of Pittsburgh's 19 hits.

AT NEW YORK—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized as world's flyweight champion by the New York state boxing commission, knocked out Little Jeff of Baltimore, 4 rounds.

King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, won decision over Ray Miller, Chicago, 10 rounds.

Happy Atherton, Indianapolis, outpointed Harry Goldstein, Boston, 10 rounds.

AT LONG BRANCH, N. J.—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York middleweight, won decision over Harry Martone, Jersey City, 10 rounds.

AT LONG BEACH, N. Y.—Al Singer, New York featherweight, scored technical knockout over Pancho Demelo, Filipino boxer.

Mystery at Styles

A Mystery Serial That Defies Solution

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

"If you like to take it that way, yes."

"Be careful, Mr. Inglethorp."

Poirot was fidgeting nervously.

"Sacre!" he murmured. "Does this imbecile of a man want to be arrested?"

Inglethorp was indeed creating a bad impression. His little denials would not have convinced a child. The Coroner, however, passed briskly to the next point, and Poirot drew a deep breath of relief.

"You had a discussion with your wife on Tuesday afternoon?"

"Pardon me," interrupted Alfred Inglethorp, "you have been misinformed. I had no quarrel with my dear wife. The whole story is absolutely untrue. I was absent from the house the entire afternoon."

"Have you anyone who can testify to that?"

"You have my word," said Inglethorp haughtily.

The Coroner did not trouble to reply.

"There are two witnesses who will swear to having heard your disagreement with Mrs. Inglethorp."

"Those witnesses were mistaken."

I was puzzled. The man spoke with such quiet assurance that I was staggered. I looked at Poirot. There was an expression of exultation on his face which I could not understand. Was he at last convinced of Alfred Inglethorp's guilt?

"Mr. Inglethorp," said the Coroner, "you have heard your wife's dying words repeated here. Can you explain them in any way?"

"Certainly I can."

"You can?"

"It seems to me very simple. The room was dimly lighted. Dr. Bauerstein is much my height and build, and, like me, wears a beard. In the dim light, and suffering as she was, my poor wife mistook him for me."

"Ah!" murmured Poirot to himself. "But it is an idea, that!"

"You think it is true?" I whispered.

"I do not say that. But it is truly an ingenious supposition."

"You read my wife's last words as an accusation?" Inglethorp was continuing—"they were, on the contrary, an appeal to me."

The Coroner reflected a moment, then he said:

"I believe, Mr. Inglethorp, that you yourself poured out the coffee, and took it to your wife that evening?"

"I poured it out, yes. But I did not take it to her. I meant to do so, but I was told that a friend was at the hall door, so I laid down the coffee on the hall table. When I came through the hall again a few minutes later, it was gone."

This statement might, or might not be true, but it did not seem to me to improve matters much for Inglethorp. In any case, he had had ample time to introduce the poison.

At that point, Poirot nudged me gently, indicating two men who were sitting together near the door. One was a little, sharp, dark, ferret-faced man, the other was tall and fair.

I questioned Poirot mutely. He put his lips to my ear. "Do you know who that little man is?"

I shook my head.

"That is Detective Inspector James Japp of Scotland Yard—Jimmy Japp. The other man is from Scotland Yard too. Things are moving quickly, my friend."

I stared at the two men intently. There was certainly nothing of the policeman about them. I should never have suspected them of being official personages.

I was still staring, when I was startled and recalled by the verdict being given:

"Wilful Murder against some person or persons unknown."

As we came out of the Stylites Arms, Poirot drew me aside by a gentle pressure of the arm. I understood his object. He was waiting for the Scotland Yard men. In a few moments, they emerged, and Poirot at once stepped forward, and accosted the shorter of the two.

"I fear you do not remember me, Inspector Japp."

"Why, if it isn't Mr. Poirot!" cried the Inspector. He turned to the other man. "You've heard me speak of Mr. Poirot? It was in 1904 he and I worked together—the Abercrombie forgery case—you remember, he was run down in Brussels. Ah, those were great days, Moosier. Then, do you remember 'Baron Altara'? There was a pretty rogue for you! He eluded the clutches of half the police in Europe. But we nailed him in Antwerp—thanks to Mr. Poirot here."

As these friendly reminiscences were being indulged in, I drew nearer, and was introduced to Detective-Inspector Japp, who in his turn, introduced us both to his companion, Superintendent Summerhays.

"I need hardly ask what you are doing here, gentlemen," remarked Poirot.

Japp closed one eye knowingly.

"No, indeed. Pretty clear case I should say."

But Poirot answered gravely:

"There I differ with you."

"Oh, come!" said Summerhays, opening his lips for the first time. "Surely the whole thing is clear as daylight. The man's caught redhanded. How he could be such a fool beats me!"

But Japp was looking attentively at Poirot.

"Hold your fire, Summerhays," he remarked jocularly. "Me and Moosier here have met before—and there's no man's judgment I'd sooner take than his. If I'm not greatly mistaken, he's got something up his sleeve. Isn't that so, Moosier?"

Poirot smiled.

"I have drawn certain conclusions—yes."

Summerhays was still looking sceptical, but Japp continued his scrutiny of Poirot.

"It's this way," he said, "so far we've only seen the case from the outside. That's where the Yards' at a disadvantage in a case of this kind, where the murderer's only out, so to speak, after the inquest. A lot depends on being on the spot first thing, and that's where Mr. Poirot's had the start on us. We shouldn't have been here as soon as this even, if it hadn't been for the fact that there was a smart doctor on the spot, who gave us the tip through the Coroner. But you've been on the spot from the first, and you may have picked up some little hints."

"From the evidence at the inquest, Mr. Inglethorp murdered his wife as sure as I stand here, and if anyone but you hinted the contrary I'd laugh in his face. I must say I was surprised the jury didn't bring it in Wilful Murder against him right off. I think they would have, if it hadn't been for the Coroner—he seemed to be holding them back."

"Perhaps, though, you have a warrant for his arrest in your pocket now," suggested Poirot.

A kind of wooden shudder of officialdom came down from Japp's expressive countenance.

"Perhaps I have, and perhaps I haven't," he remarked dryly.

Poirot looked at him thoughtfully.

"I am very anxious, Messieurs, that he should not be arrested."

CHAPTER 20.

"I dare say," observed Summerhays sarcastically. Japp was regarding Poirot with comical perplexity.

"Can't you go a little further, Mr. Poirot? A wink's as good as a nod—from you. You've been on the spot—and the Yard doesn't want to make any mistakes, you know."

Poirot nodded gravely.

"That is exactly what I thought. Well, I will tell you this. Use your warrant: Arrest Mr. Inglethorp. But it will bring you no kudos—the case against him will be dismissed at once! Comme ça!" And he snapped his fingers expressively.

Japp's face grew grave, though Summerhays gave an incredulous snort.

As for me, I was literally dumb with astonishment. I could only conclude that Poirot was mad.

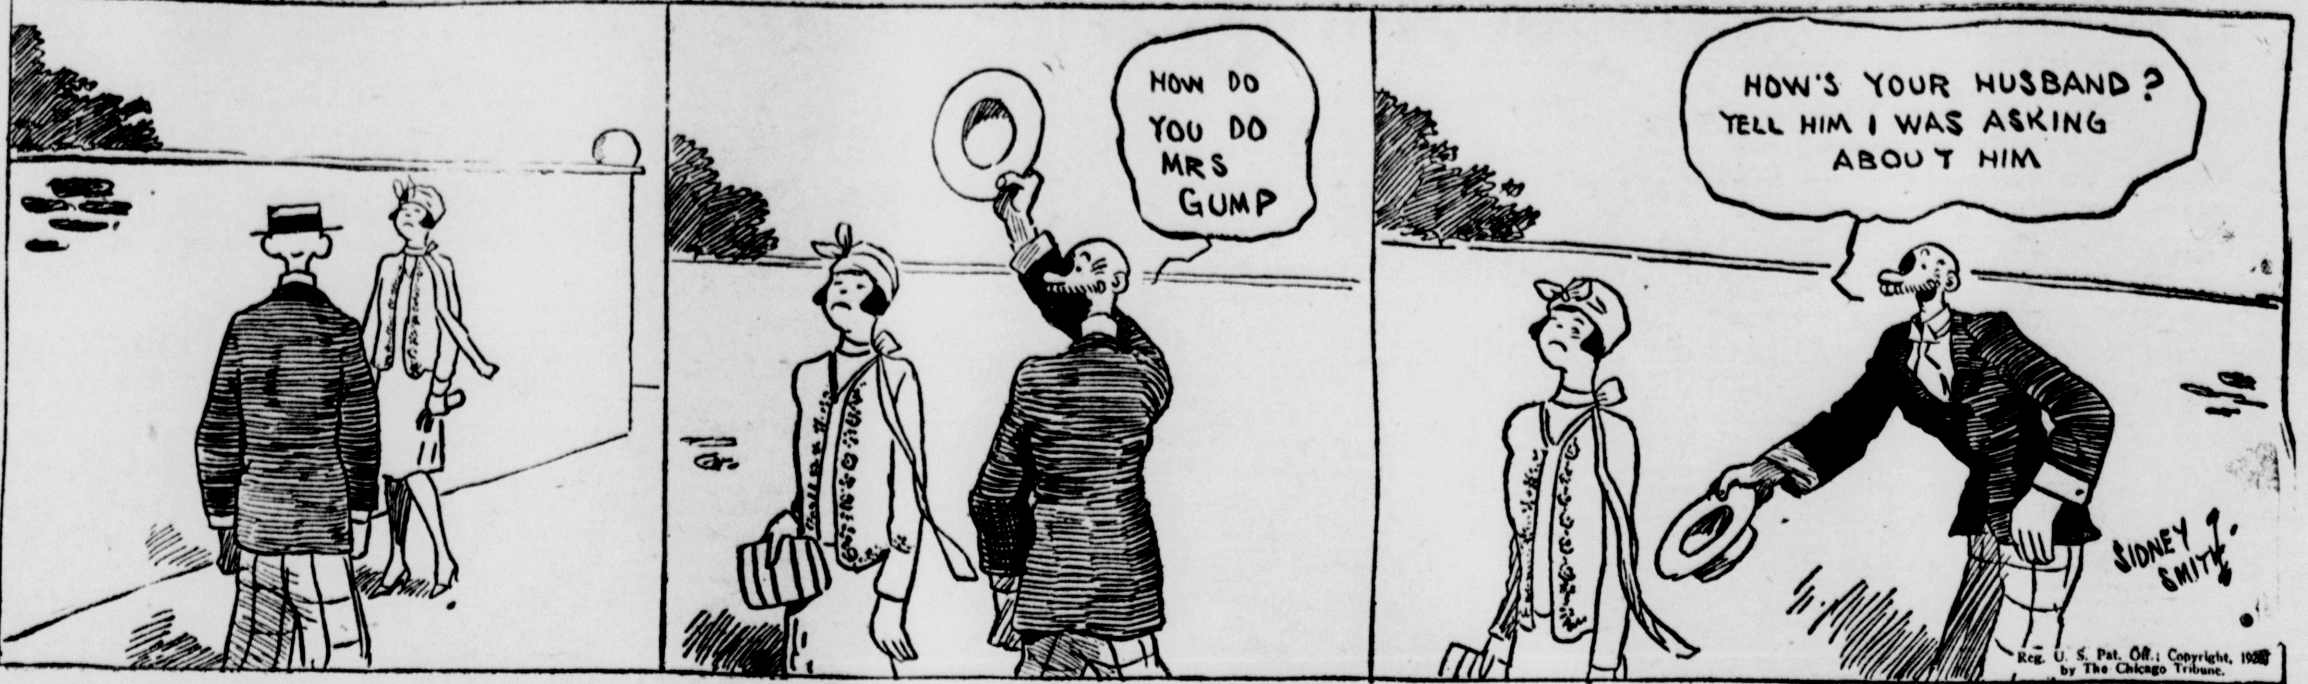

Japp had taken out handkerchief, and was gently dabbing his brow.

"I daren't do it, Mr. Poirot. I'd take your word, but there's others over me who'll be asking what the devil I mean by it. Can't you give me a little more to go on?"

Poirot reflected a moment.
